CERTIFICATION RENEWALS

Required credit for Recertification must include three (3) contact hours of “Ethics” for both RPPO and RPPS certificate holders. Remaining credits must be in Public Purchasing, of which three (3) may be in Management/Supervision subjects. The applicant is responsible for retaining all records of attendance, organization membership and program participation.

RPPO Certificate Renewals

The certification renewal period is every three years. Twenty (20) continuing education contact hours must be earned over this period.

RPPS Certificate Renewals

The certification renewal period is every three years. Fifteen (15) continuing education contact hours must be earned over this period.

Expired Certificates

Certificates 90 days or more past the expiration date are no longer considered valid. The holder of an invalid or lapsed certificate who is unable to accumulate the appropriate continuing education credit must take a written exam in order to renew the certification. To confirm the applicant’s knowledge of recent developments in the purchasing field, the exam stresses current issues. The exam will be given as deemed necessary by the number of requests received. Renewal will be dated from the month the applicant passes the exam. Certification renewal through examination is $50.

If an individual’s certification has lapsed and the exam option is not taken, the individual must wait a period of three years from the expiration date before being able to once again apply for the RPPO or RPPS certification. The applicant must have completed Principles of Public Purchasing 1, 2, and 3 courses not more than 10 years earlier. If the courses were taken prior to then, the courses must be retaken and successfully completed.

Continuing Education Credits

Continuing education credit can be earned by attendance at seminars, workshops, classes or conferences and through numerous methods of professional development.

PUBLIC PURCHASING CERTIFICATE PROGRAM

A series of courses is offered by Rutgers University for public purchasing officials desiring the Registered Public Purchasing Official or the Registered Public Purchasing Specialist certification. The certifications are awarded by the Center for Government Services and require successful completion of Principles of Public Purchasing 1, 2, and 3 courses, as well as a Municipal Finance Administration course. Time in service requirements must also be met. The courses will also prove valuable to those interested in increasing their knowledge of public purchasing functions.

Principles of Public Purchasing 1 (30 hours)
This introductory purchasing course acquaints municipal and county purchasing agents and other public officials responsible for purchasing with sound purchasing practices and principles.

Principles of Public Purchasing 2 (30 hours)
This second course in the purchasing sequence emphasizes advanced information, ideas and techniques for the experienced county, municipal and public agency purchasing official.

Principles of Public Purchasing 3 (30 hours)
This course covers the competitive process in public purchasing with emphasis on bid specifications and requests for proposals. It will also discuss current issues in the purchasing field.

Municipal Finance Administration for Public Purchasing Personnel (26 hours) - OR - Municipal Finance Administration (for Certified Municipal Finance Officers) (26 hours)
These introductory courses on municipal finance are designed to provide a foundation for a better understanding of New Jersey local government fiscal affairs. Only one of the above finance courses is required for certification. Please note that the course designed for Public Purchasing Personnel will not satisfy the requirement for NJ DCA Certified Municipal Finance Officer (CMFO) certification.
