Continuing Education Program for Construction and Hotel and Multiple Dwelling Code Enforcement Officials and Technical Assistants

The State of New Jersey requires all construction and hotel and multiple dwelling code enforcement officials in the state to be licensed under the Uniform Construction Code -N.J.A.C. 5:23, subchapter 5 and the Regulations for Maintenance of Hotels and Multiple Dwellings N.J.A.C. 5:10, subchapter 1B, respectively. Amusement ride safety inspectors are also licensed in accord with subchapter 5 of the UCC. Technical Assistants and special construction inspectors are also certified under the regulations at N.J.A.C. 5:23, subchapter 5.

Continuing education enables these professionals to perform the functions of their jobs, including review and approval of construction plans and monitoring of the construction process. Hotel and multiple dwelling inspectors are charged with the duty to enforce crucial maintenance requirements on those type of buildings to ensure the health and welfare of the occupants, ranging from building maintenance and structural requirements to fire safety provisions. Special inspectors are certified to perform independent third party inspections on critical and complex ongoing construction processes that are properly carried out and in compliance with the building code. In order to maintain their licenses, these individuals are required to participate in a minimum number of approved continuing education programs within each three year licensing period.

The New Jersey Department of Community Affairs, in cooperation with the Center for Government Services - Rutgers, The State University of New Jersey, regularly offers a program of continuing education seminars to assist code enforcement personnel in meeting their educational requirement. This packet includes complete instructions for submitting a proposal to develop and teach these seminars.

Proposals must be received no later than OCTOBER 3, 2018. All proposals will be evaluated, and final selections will be made by a committee comprised of both DCA and Rutgers staff. Successful bidders will be notified via the scheduling process. Seminars will be scheduled for presentation in early December for the Spring 2019 semester, which commences in early March. Selection of seminars for the fall semester will be completed in June 2019.

Categories of Interest

The following list of seminar topics was created largely from suggestions from construction code enforcement personnel or identified by the Department as critical topics necessary for the code official to maintain their performance at the highest level. It represents topics of particular interest, but is not exhaustive, nor exclusive of other topics of interest or importance. Additional resources and material may be gleaned from reviewing the regulations at N.J.A.C. 5:23-5.20 and 5:10-1B.5 that delineate the educational requirements to obtain a construction code license and the duties of hotel and multiple dwelling inspectors/officials, respectively.

We welcome any topic of interest to the code enforcement community that is timely and/or relevant.
